Short Pasta Making Machine Shell Macaroni Production Line

Macaroni pasta processing line, with perfect technology, compact structure, original design and stable performance, is developed on the base of advanced products and requirements in the world market. It realizes high automation, convenient operation, low energy and small floor space, that assures all working procedures from feeding flour to finished products can be accomplished once. The investment for this line is only one tenth of that larger size equipment, especially suitable to small-size or self-owned enterprises. The pasta macaroni product produced by this line is tenacious smooth and transparent.